INCREDIBLE EDIBLE

WHAT IS THIS PROJECT?

In Todmorden, a market town in Yorkshire, all sorts of people grow fruit, herbs and vegetables around the town that are for everyone to share. They also run a wide range of events that help strengthen the local community. Within the town centre there are fruit, herbs and veggies growing all around; at the Health Centre, by the canal, at the railway station, outside the college and in front of the police station. "We grow for anyone to pick and use."

WHAT DIFFERENCE IS IT MAKING?

Incredible Edible aims to provide access to good local food for all, through working together, learning - from field to classroom to kitchen, and supporting local business. All with no paid staff, no buildings, no public funding: radical community building in action. Those involved are passionate people working together for a world where all share responsibility for the future wellbeing of our planet and ourselves.
